TOMATO SAUSAGE EGG BITES

Flaky puff pastry cups filled with sausage, cherry tomatoes, onion and melty cheese, baked into fluffy egg bites.

Makes 12 · 45 min

Ingredients

FILLING

- 1 tbsp olive oil
- ½ yellow onion, diced
- 1 cup cherry tomatoes, quartered
- ½ roll Impossible Sausage savory roll (about 7 oz)
- ¼ cup dairy-free Boursin, Garlic & Herb
- ½ cup shredded dairy-free cheddar, divided (recommend Violife)
- ¼ cup dairy-free Parmesan, divided (recommend Follow Your Heart)

CUPS & EGG

- 2 sheets puff pastry, thawed
- 1 bottle Just Egg (12 oz)
- ¼ cup Cashew Cream ✦
- Salt and pepper

Method

1. Preheat your oven to 350°F.
2. Dice ½ yellow onion, and chop 1 cup cherry tomatoes into fourths.
3. Pan-sear the onions in 1 tbsp olive oil until they turn translucent. In the same pan, add ½ roll (about 7 oz) Impossible sausage and the tomatoes. Break up the sausage into crumbles, and cook until golden brown.
4. Cut circles out of 2 sheets of puff pastry, roughly three inches in diameter. Place them into the cups of a cupcake baking pan.
5. Add ¼ cup Boursin and half of the shredded cheeses (¼ cup cheddar and 2 tbsp Parmesan) to your mixture, and then fill the puff pastry cups with it.
6. In a bowl, add 1 bottle (12 oz) Just Egg and ¼ cup cashew cream. Season with salt and pepper.
7. Pour the egg mix into each cup, and top with the rest of the shredded cheeses (¼ cup cheddar and 2 tbsp Parmesan).
8. Bake for 25–30 minutes, or until the egg stops being jiggly.

✦ NOTES ✦

If you don't want to make cashew cream, feel free to use a dairy-free milk. To reheat, simply pop them in the air fryer for a few minutes.
